

Twin Baby Boys Arrive In Mexican Prison Camp

One Dies, but Other Survives, and Will Be Christened in Presence of Officers and Guardsmen; One Scarlet Fever Case Isolated; Refugees Object to Army's Prophylactic Treatment; Daily Rations Are Costing Expenditure of $1000.

TWIN boys were born at the Fort Bliss prison camp Friday night to a Mexican mother, whose husband fought at Ojinaga. One of the twins died during the night, but the other is expected to live and will be christened at the prison camp in the presence of the officers and the 20th infantry guard.

There was no inmate for the newest arrivals at the refugee camp, an old shack being their only covering until clothing could be procured for them by the old wives of the camp. A wall tent was the birthplace and an aged camp follower, who had cooked in the trenches at Ojinaga, was the midwife.

Scarlet Fever Appears.
One case of scarlet fever has been discovered in the prison camp and has been isolated in the little isolation camp which has been established outside of the stockade. The one small-pox patient is also in this isolation camp and any other cases which may develop will be sent to the contagious camp, where medical corps men from the United States army will care for them.

A careful canvass is being made by the medical officers to learn which of the soldiers and refugees have had smallpox or have been vaccinated. Friday 1800 were vaccinated and 2000 more are to be given the prophylactic treatment before Sunday. The entire 20th infantry, exclusive of the third battalion, which is camped down town, will also be vaccinated.

Mexicans Object to Treatments.
The prophylactic serum treatment to prevent typhoid fever will also be administered to the entire prison camp. The Mexicans are objecting strenuously.

to the preventive treatments which are being given them, but the medical corps has ordered these treatments and they will be given in spite of the protests. There is no serum for preventing the spread of scarlet fever. Isolation is the only preventive measure.

Hungry Stragglers Creep In.
There are 412 prisoners and refugees in the camp. This is an increase over the number who crossed at Ojinaga and the army officers believe that local Mexican refugees are dodging through the picket lines to join the prisoners and get in on the three meals a day. The barred wire stockade is almost completed and by Sunday it will enclose the entire camp. It will then be more difficult to escape or enter the camp.

Saturday was bath day at the camp, but because of the vaccinations and the chill in the air on the mesa, it was postponed until Sunday. Then everyone, except those who are ill, will be compelled to take a warm scrub in the shower baths which have been erected.

Consuming Five Tons of Food Daily.
Capt. William E. Hunt, depot quartermaster, continues to send 10,000 pounds of rations to the post daily for the prisoners. It requires an average of two pounds of food for each man a day at the camp and 15,000 rations are shipped to the post daily for the Mexicans. This food supply costs the government $1000 a day, exclusive of the cost of cooking it and other supplies at the prison camp.

NEW BATH HOUSE AT POST IN OPERATION
The 24 shower bath houses, the construction of which has just been completed at a cost of $500, has been turned over to the 20th infantry. Private Elric J. Martell, company E, has been detailed on special duty as fireman.

Second Lieut. George C. Bowen, 20th infantry, has been tendered a detail with the Bailey Military Institute at Greenwood, and has signified his acceptance.

The medical corps has been augmented by the assignment to the 20th infantry of Capt. J. B. Higgins and 1st Lieut. Fred B. Burdick, M. C., and 14 privates. Requisition has been made for 150 cots, for use of the detention camp hospital.

First Lieut. William B. Wallace, 20th infantry, has been detailed with the militia of Utah, with station at Salt Lake City, Utah, effective Feb. 1; by war department orders.

Upon the recommendation of the tactical commander, the following appointments are made in the regimental detachment, 20th infantry: To be corporals, privates Roger E. Thomas, company B; Leon L. Allen, company K; and Paul M. Weaver, company M.

"Advertising Only Truths"

The following notice, which has been posted for the benefit of our employees—and the public in general, may be of more than passing interest.

Notice!

It is our intention that every advertisement bearing the name of "Everybody's" shall be absolutely true and correct—in every respect. It is further our desire, that all employees, as far as possible, become familiar with our advertisements as they appear each day, so that enquiries may be answered intelligently—if goods referred to are in their dept. or not. In order to attract many critical eyes to our "ads," and to add interest to their reading by all employees in the store, we do, from now on, offer $1.00 to any of our employees who shall first call the attention to our advertising manager to an error in any of our "ads." Errors will be considered as follows:

"An Exaggerated Statement."
"A Wrong Pricing."
"A Misspelled Word."
"A Grammatical Error."
"A False Statement."
1-21-14 "Everybody's."
